

For Immediate Release:

5151 Penn Gallery Hosting Inaugural Opening: Birds, Bees, Flowers and Trees.

August 14, 2006, Pittsburgh, PA --- 5151 Penn, a new multi-purpose gallery and performance space, opens Friday, September 1, 2006 from 7-11pm with Birds, Bees, Flowers and Trees, featuring the works of Kim Fox and Linnea Glick. Located in the heart of the Penn Garfield corridor, 5151 Penn has plans for an exciting series of upcoming events, according to co-founders Stephan Koledin and Rosemary Barton. Birds, Bees, Flowers and Trees will showcase Fox and Glick's abstract representations of nature, with music provided by Justin Hopper (Socialism, Pandemic).

In describing her work, Linnea Glick, Artist and Assistant Director at Pitt Arts, states, "I create abstract forms of natural images cut from colored drawing paper."

Most recently, the work of Kim Fox, Artist, Illustrator and Art Buyer, has focused on organic themes and is inspired by "her surroundings, by her life in a city in that exists in the midst of both decay and rebirth, set against the dramatic beauty and constant change of the Pennsylvania landscape."

The opening reception for Birds, Bees, Flowers and Trees will include food and beverages donated by East End Brewing Company and Bella' Roma Catering Group. The show concludes Friday, September 22nd with a closing reception. Otherwise, 5151 Penn will be open via appointment.

5151 Penn is also looking forward to hosting Partisan Project, which opens on October 6th.

For additional information about the space or upcoming shows, please visit the website at <http://5151Penn.com/>, or send email to shows@5151Penn.com